A concert will be given at the Old Opera House Friday night by Company B of the Hammer Division of the Loyal Temperance Legion, of Roanoke. The programme will consist of marches, drills, dialogues, recitations, tableaux, choruses, solos and illustrated songs, comic and pathetic.

The Brick Work Completed.

The brick work on the handsome three-story building being erected by the Home Building and Conveyance Company on Campbell avenue, near Commerce street, was completed yesterday. This work was done under the direction of G. R. Huffman and makes a very creditable appearance.

Adjudged Insane.

A commission of lunacy, composed of Justices Pole and Turner, examined Charles Rhodenheiser, formerly one of the engineers at the Ponce de Leon, at noon yesterday and upon the testimony of Dr. Leigh Buckner, adjudged him insane. He is in jail at present and will be taken to the asylum as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made.

Small Fire Last Night.

A small vacant cottage on Peach street, occupied until a few days ago by a woman named Mrs. Dooley, caught fire last night at 9:45 o'clock. In response to an alarm sent in from box 14, the firemen were soon on the scene and had the flames extinguished. The blaze was evidently of incendiary origin. The damage was small and will not exceed $50.

Important Meeting of the U. R. K. of P.

The regular meeting of Roanoke Division No. 11, U. R. K. of P., will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in its armory. Preparations are being made to carry full ranks to Washington in August to attend the biennial encampment. A full attendance of members is especially desired, as business of importance will be brought up.

Bitten by a Dog.

Henry, the 5-year-old son of W. D. Bryant, who lives south of the city, just beyond the river, was bitten on the hand by a small black stray dog early yesterday morning. The dog had several convulsions and was supposed to have had hydrophobia. The little fellow was at once brought to the city where the wound was examined and cauterized by Dr. C. G. Cannaday. The dog was killed on the spot.

Pastors to Revise the Church Directories.

The ministers present at the weekly meeting of the pastors' conference yesterday morning were: President Garrison, Secretary Pollard and Revs. Reiter, Harris, Buchanan, Campbell, Hamner, Broughton, Campbell, Stanton, Locke, Masao, of Japan, and Bishop Fitzgerald. In addition to the routine business, Revs. Stanton, Reiter and Broughton were appointed a committee to revise the church directories in the hotels.

The June term of the Hustings Court convened yesterday morning at 10 o'clock with Judge Woods on the bench. This is a civil term and no criminal cases will be tried. J. F. Wingfield qualified as a notary public.

The date for hearing the contested election cases was set for June 21. A large number of civil suits were called and most of them continued. C. W. C. Woolwine qualified as a member of the examining board of State embalmers.

Meeting of the Anti-Building and Loan Association.

The Anti-Building and Loan Association, of Roanoke, held another meeting last night at Hotel Lee, which was largely attended. Quite a number of new members joined the association and the members were greatly encouraged over the progress of the work. The attorneys for the association were instructed to attend the court of appeals at Wytheville June 10 to represent the interests of its members in some cases that will come before the court at that time.

Baptist Sunday-School Union.

The Baptist Sunday-school Union held a meeting at Calvary Baptist Church Sunday afternoon at 4:45 o'clock which was well attended and which was presided over by W. W. Workman, the vice president, in the absence of President W. G. Evans.

Encouraging reports were received from the schools at Belmont, Calvary, East Roanoke, First Baptist, Norwich, Northwest mission and Vinton.

Informal addresses were made by Rev. Dr. Broughton, W. R. Terrill and others. W. R. Terrill and Mr. Goode were appointed a committee to consider the advisability of holding a grand union picnic. Nineteen dollars was raised towards buying an organ for the Belmont school.

The next meeting will be held at Vinton, the first Sunday in July.

From Edward F. Droop & Sons.

LARGE dealers in Washington, D. C. Old and experienced in the business, they ought to know a good piano. "The pianos shipped us a few weeks ago arrived safely, and their general appearance and the tone quality of your new scale pleases us so much, that we must compliment you highly on the success achieved in the manufacture of such a durable and pretty instrument. For many years we have been using the Marshall & Wendell piano, and we are anxiously looking forward to Mr. Wendell's visit, as we want to make arrangements so that we can practically make a leader of the Marshall & Wendell." Hobbie Music Company, sole dealers, 157 Salem avenue.

EAGLE DAIRY Ice Cream, $1 per gallon.

The handsome windows of the Bowdler Shoe Company are resplendent in many colored hangings of delicate tints, and its delicately tinted shoes as well. Mt. Desert Island.

ON THE coast of Maine, contains more elements of beauty, arranged in a more picturesque way than any other island, large or small, on the Atlantic coast of the United States. It is in brief an insular range or collection of mountains, consisting of something like a dozen granite peaks, separated by valleys of great wildness and beauty, which often contain deep clear lakes or wild mountain streams. Around the island boasts the Atlantic ocean, making altogether the grandest bit of scenery on the Atlantic coast. Bar Harbor may be reached by through cars from Washington, via the famous "Colonial Express," in twenty-four hours. F. E. Boothby, general passenger and ticket agent of the Maine Central railroad, will take pleasure in mailing descriptive pamphlets, time tables, etc., to any one contemplating a trip to Maine.

"SOMETIME ago I was troubled with an attack of rheumatism. I used Chamberlain's pain balm and was completely cured. I have since advised many of my friends and customers to try the remedy and all speak highly of it." SIMON GOLDBLUM, San Louis Rey, Cal. For sale by The Charles Lyle Drug Company, druggists.

HAD A GOOD TIME.

Some Little Offsets, but They Didn't Count Compared With the General Fun.

Among the passengers going over on one of the ferryboats yesterday afternoon was an old man with a red but good natured face, a bald pate, with a fringe of gray hair around it, and an evident desire to talk. Pretty soon he selected his man and said:

"I'm just goin' hum after bein in Detroit fur two weeks."

"Have you enjoyed yourself?" was asked in reply.

"Yes, fairly well, considerin that I had an attack of colic four different times, and that left knee has bothered me with rheumatism. It's kind of a queer place, though."

"How queer?"

"Oh, waal, everybody is kinder coltish. I'll bet that over 40 feller dug their elbows into me and hustled me around, and the boys sassed me in the most dreadful manner. I was on the street car and took some cough strap out of a bottle, and everybody tittered and giggled."

"I TOOK SOME COUGH SIRUP."

"But you didn't mind it?"

"Oh, no, I didn't! I'm kinder coltish myself, and it takes a heap to get me fightin mad. I was on a street car one day where there was four or five wimin standin up, while about a dozen men were takin it mighty comfortable. Made me sort o' riled to see it, and I got up and said, 'All the hogs will keep right on sittin down and chawin terbacker, while all the gentlemen will git up and let these wimin folks sit down.' Waal, sir, as many as six of them fellers offered to llok me, and one of them did haul off to crack at me. He'd 'a' hit me on the jaw, sure's you're born, if I hadn't bristled right up to him and got my jackknife out."

"You talked to 'em just right."

"Yes, I guess I did. Another time I was on a car when a feller in a wagon wouldn't git off the track. The driver he did more whistlin than would call my old dog fur 10 years, but the feller wouldn't git off. Sorter riled me to see a man actin so pizen mean, and I yelled, 'Look-a-her-mister, if you was a livin out our way and showed your meanness after this fashion, you'd git rode on a rail quicker'n seat, and I'd be one to help carry it!' Waal, sir, he jumps down and was goin to pull me off the platform, and he talked about smashin my jaw and breakin my ribs till a policeman walked him off."

"Any other adventures?"

"Waal, one evening I went up to a policeman at the postoffice. He was lookin tired and sleepy."

I offered to spell him fur a couple of hours if he wanted to go and take a nap. What do you think he did? Come mighty high arrestin me!

Said I was interferin with an officer!

I seen he was one of them techy sors, and so I let him alone. Are they all that way?"

"No, not all. But then he didn't understand your motive probably."

"No other time," continued the old man, "I met a policeman on the dock and asked him if it didn't make him giddy and upset his stomach to be so high up over the water, and he got mad in a minute and squared off at me. Ain't no mortal use in anybody bein so cantankerous as all that."

"But on the whole you've had a good time, haven't you?"

"On the hull, I've had a darned good time fur an old man like me, and I'm a carryin hum over 'leven dollars wuth o' prusings to the family! I've been sassed and allowed, and I've come mighty high havin 'bout six fights, but on the hull it's all right, and I'm goin hum to do some of the tallest braggin you ever heard of!"—Detroit Free Press.

The Boy Always Escapes.

Officers Edmonson and Holden are telling a funny story on a man who conducts an establishment near Tenth and Market streets. The man became infatuated with a pretty widow who lives next door to his place. The two utilized the hydrant hose by which to converse, for the man was detained at his place of business and the widow's sewing kept her up stairs. The policeman said that the two spent a good deal of their time talking through the rubber hose. They kept this up until last Saturday afternoon. It was then that a small boy adjusted a piece of hose from the hydrant to the center of the improvised telephone and watched for the talkers to resume their conversation. The policemen were standing near when the boy turned on the water. The stream struck the man squarely in the ear, nearly knocking him down and thoroughly drenching him and his place of business. The woman, who has been talking through the other end of the hose at the time, received the full force of the water in her mouth. It knocked her down and nearly strangled her. It also spoiled her sewing material for that day. The boy escaped.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Naturally Disqualified.

"I want you to take her voice over your care, professor," said the fond mother to the eminent musician. "I think she has a great future."

"Very likely, very likely. You want me to make a prima donna of her?"

"Yes. She is very quick to learn and very amiable."

"Did you say amiable?"

"Certainly."

"Does she never quarrel?"

"Never."

"Madam, your ambitions cannot be realized. I may teach her to sing, but I can never make a great prima donna of her."—Washington Star.

Ungrateful.

The young men are disgracefully spoiled. A young man in town took a girl to a 40 cent show recently, and it pleased her so that she gave a party in his honor. Expenses: Cost of papering parlor, $17.95; new napkins, $2.50; ice cream, $6; cakes, etc., $4.75; high five favors, $3.80; hired help, $1.75; total, $36.15. The young man has remarked since that he thought the party a great bore.—Arlington Globe.

Preserving the Unities.

Contractor—Kipping Block. That's a queer name for that new office building, ain't it?

Architect—Oh, I don't know. It's been built so as another story can be added any time.—New York World.
